Business Ethics
Critical Thinking

Listed below are five statements. Read through all the statements, and choose three to respond to. Your three responses should first state whether you AGREE or DISAGREE with the argument, then justify your response with a thoughtful explanation including specific examples that support your answer.

On a separate Word document, type the statement you are responding to, and your explanation in three different paragraphs.

1. "Unless everyone agrees completely on which actions are 'right' and which actions are 'wrong,' the concept of right and wrong cannot exist."
2. "People cannot agree about which actions are right and which actions are wrong."
3. "Since ethical decisions are based on individual beliefs, we cannot judge each other's actions as being right or wrong."
4. "Since every society decides for itself what it considers right or wrong, once society can never judge another's actions or moral code."
5. "If we cannot prove scientifically that something exists, then it cannot exist."
